

LIGHT BRAHMA HEN.

Copyright London
Printed in England

"PRIZE POULTRY."

RAPHAEL TUCK & SONS "OINETTE" Postcard No. 3136

ART PUBLISHED BY THEIR MAJESTIES THE KING & QUEEN.

LL12763

TUCK'S POST CARD

CARTE POSTALE.

cent.

Light Brahma fowls breed is supposed to have originally come from India country on the banks of the Brahmaputra. These and the cochin fowls are quite distinct from other varieties both in shape and in the quantity of feathers which grow on their legs and feet. For many years they were a very favourite variety, and even at the present time are largely kept in America. They make good table fowls, and are first-class winter layers of eggs with deep brown coloured shells.

(FOR ADDRESS ONLY.)

CTPA12.9